

2012

Mother, another year has past
You always said watching us grow was a blast
But the time went by so fast
But the love you give us, will forever last.

Mother, this day you shall rest
Put the skills you taught us to the test
Although we come across as a pest
We'll always try to show you our best.

Mother, today we will make or take you out
And no one will argue or shout
Fun we'll have no doubt
Maybe, just maybe, I'll eat one Brussels sprout.

Mother, do what you will
Stay at home, relax and chill
Venture to a movie, for a thrill
Or paint the town red, just don't kill.

Mother, I wish you a good day
I tried to make a gift out of clay
So I just bought something off E-Bay
But you'll need to wait it's still on its way.
